On Tuesday, July 27, the Center for Disease Control (CDC) issued new Covid-19 guidelines. The CDC is recommending that fully vaccinated people should begin wearing masks indoors again in localities with high Covid transmission rates.

In order to comply with the new CDC guidelines, masks will now be required by anyone entering the Synagogue until further notice.
Rabbi’s Message

Don’t forget that the High Holy Days are coming soon, so getting ready comes in many ways. I remember that often times August was the time our parents took us out to get new clothes; suits for the boys and dresses for the girls for services. The moms started planning whose house we were going to and what would be served. In my youth in the city of Baltimore we had all our extended family living in the Jewish community, so being with family was part of the tradition. The only question was what part of the family would we be with for each of the festive meals?

Sometimes people say to me, “how do you prepare for the Holy Days?” I usually say I try to get away from the day to day of being a Rabbi and isolate myself to give thought and introspection about my own life and how that impacts what I want to speak about during the upcoming services. Family is not the same for me as a Rabbi, since I have to depend that family will come to see me because I am with my congregational family leading them in services.

Most Rabbis like myself are thinking and writing notes and starting to finish drafts of sermons that our congregants are waiting to hear. I like taking a variety of themes such as the congregation, an issue regarding world Jewry, Israel and an ethical issue that typically falls on Yom Kippur Day. I try to cover a wide spectrum of sermon topics, and each one of them I feel a passion for discussing the issue as it relates to the High Holy Days.

But what about all of us preparing for the High Holy Days ourselves? What can we do to prepare for the services? First I urge everyone to purchase and review a High Holy Day Mahzor.

Look at your favorite prayers. Please do not wait until the day to day of being a Rabbi and isolate myself to give thought and introspection about my own life and how that impacts what I want to speak about during the upcoming services. Family is not the same for me as a Rabbi, since I have to depend that family will come to see me because I am with my congregational family leading them in services.

Most Rabbis like myself are thinking and writing notes and starting to finish drafts of sermons that our congregants are waiting to hear. I like taking a variety of themes such as the congregation, an issue regarding world Jewry, Israel and an ethical issue that typically falls on Yom Kippur Day. I try to cover a wide spectrum of sermon topics, and each one of them I feel a passion for discussing the issue as it relates to the High Holy Days.

But what about all of us preparing for the High Holy Days ourselves? What can we do to prepare for the services? First I urge everyone to purchase and review a High Holy Day Mahzor.

Look at your favorite prayers. Please do not wait until we walk into the sanctuary (yes!) to begin to think about important matters on our mind. How about making a list of our favorite prayers we like to read each year? Take the time during the month of August and read one a day. Think about the prayer. See what it means in English. Look up the prayer on YouTube and listen to various versions of it being recited or chanted just to get a feel for the spiritual texture of the prayer and memories these prayers kindle inside us.

How about writing your own sermon this year? What if you accumulated a couple of personal issues that you know you need to work on as well as an issue that you feel where we as the Jewish people can do better or that we need to call to the world’s attention important matters regarding the world we live in.

Look into the mirror and ask yourself, “I know I am a good person. But is there any issue that I should address about myself? Is there someone I should reach out to and make amends before the end of Yom Kippur? Can I make mistakes and still be at heart a good person?”

The Hebrew month of Elul tells us to prepare for the first day of Rosh Hashanah which begins Monday night, September 6, which is Labor Day. This is a different kind of labor. On Labor Day we take a break from work to celebrate the importance of labor in our nation. For us who will be inside our houses of worship around the nation and the world, let us review a different kind of labor of the soul. Yes, it takes hard work with hands and heart to reconcile, forgive and apologize for our misdeeds. Making up an agenda for this year’s High Holy Days can be all consuming, but for now just pick a few things and give them your time and consideration. Be in the moment when we enter the temple and doing what requires soul work.

I have faith that we can use our time wisely so that we can make the best effort and get the most out of our High Holy Days experience.

God bless you and make your month of Elul a productive and gratifying one.

Shalom,

Rabbi Brad

Rabbinical Student for High Holy Days – Ora Jacobsen

Ora Jacobsen, who is the daughter-in-law of our affiliate members Susan and Mitch Jacobsen, will be co-officiating with Rabbi Bloom for these upcoming High Holy Days. Ora requested to be a part of our HHD services to get some experience as a student intern. Ora will be starting her second year at the Reform Movement’s seminary. This is a great mitzvah. Ora is a bright and lovely individual who traveled with CBY on Rabbi Bloom’s first group led trip to Israel with her husband Ryan and her in-laws, so she has been a long-time friend of the congregation. Please contact Rabbi Bloom either by his cell or email for further information (brdbloom@gmail.com).
Message from the President – Candy Solomon

Shalom CBY,

We are in the final stretch of planning for the reopening of our Religious School, and we are getting ready to celebrate the High Holy Days. What a difference a year makes! Last year our teachers were researching the best ways to teach Religious School virtually. It was a huge undertaking as they had to be creative with their lessons to keep the students engaged. Our teachers had to become familiar with teaching through Zoom. Not only were the teachers learning, the students were learning, also. Nevertheless, they all survived.

Now we are in the process of finalizing our plans for the High Holy Day services. Our High Holy Day co-chairs, Joel Greene and Jeremy Press, have been working with the Rabbi, David Kimbell, Adriana Urato, and the office staff to put together beautiful and spiritual services that we will all be able to enjoy, either virtually or in person. While we may not have a fully crowded sanctuary and social hall, we will be able to worship in a safe environment. I realize that some of you may choose to stay at home and watch the services through streaming instead of attending in person, and we are making that option available for you. I know that I am looking forward to seeing you in person at CBY again. It has been far too long, and we all miss seeing each other.

I have a favor to ask of you. If you have friends who have been reluctant to join CBY, this is the time to give them a nudge. Our Membership co-chairs, Janice Fradkin and Judy Movshin, are ready to give prospective members tours of the synagogue. The High Holy Days are a time when people have the need to connect with their spirituality. Once they see our beautiful building and all that it represents, meet Rabbi Bloom and some of our congregants, and attend a Friday night service, they may decide that they want to join us. Let’s all work together to increase our membership for the new year. We have weathered the storm and have a bright future ahead of us.

I look forward to seeing you on Monday evening, September 6, for the beginning of Rosh Hashanah.

Shalom and keep smiling,

Candy

The Sisterhood is affiliated with the Women of Reform Judaism. I thought I would give you some reasons for this affiliation. The following description is taken from their website:

“Founded in 1913 as an affiliate of the Union for Reform Judaism, WRJ strengthens the voice of women worldwide and empowers them to create caring communities, nurture congregations, cultivate personal and spiritual growth, and advocate for and promote progressive Jewish values. To fulfill this vision, WRJ engages tens of thousands of women through a global network of hundreds of sisterhoods and women’s groups. Stronger together, we ensure that these women make a difference in the world.”

The Minyan

Public prayer is an important component of Jewish worship. This is evidenced by the requirement that certain prayers may only be recited by a quorum, or minyan, of ten adult Jews. These include the K’dushah (Sanctification), Kaddish, the reader’s repetition of T’filah, Bar’chu, and reading the Torah and the haftarah. In Reform Judaism, there are allowances for situations when a minyan cannot be assembled. Kaddish can be recited in English or there can be other suitable readings instead of reciting Kaddish. The Torah may be read from a printed book instead of scrolls. While there have been many discussions within the Reform movement historically as to who may be included in a minyan and how many are actually needed, there remains the commitment to have worship carried out in the presence of a Jewish community. CBY Office News

As we look ahead to 5782, and we reopen the temple and the office, we are excited to tell you about a few changes. Please welcome Gail Froomkin to our office staff. Gail will be the face you see when you come to the office on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 10 AM to 2 PM. Michael and Gail moved to Bluffton from Youngstown, OH, in 2018 to be in warm weather and near Michael’s family, Renee and Eli Roth. Michael and Gail joined our CBY family right away. Gail has extensive experience with Jewish communal work and has worked in the office of the American Red Cross and Mahoning County Board of Developmental Disabilities. Gail will be a great asset in assisting Michele. Ceil will continue to work on marketing and communications and will mostly work remotely. She will check email daily and help you with your marketing needs within 24 hours of receiving the request. Please join us in welcoming Gail to our CBY staff!

Cemetery Committee—Felicia Roth, Chair

There is a lot to be grateful for with the reopening of CBY and lots to look forward to! Plans are underway for interesting programming and activities to begin in the fall after the High Holy Days: more opportunities for socializing, sharing interests, and connecting with other CBY members. An interest survey is being prepared, but don’t hesitate to contact Janice or Judy with some ideas you may have.

The life force of our congregation is our membership. You bring the spirit and energy to all that happens here. And it’s the responsibility of all of us to bring more of those “good vibrations” to CBY. Please invite your friends and neighbors to find out what we’re all about, whether it’s a Jewish education for their children or an opportunity for members of all ages to meet and make new friends, CBY is the place to be. Spread the word!

Care Committee—Maury Fradkin, Co-chair

The Care Committee co-chairs met in July to review our programs in order to set up a calendar of events for the coming year.

We are welcoming our two cantorial students, Justin Callis (from September through December) and Sierra Fox (from January through April). Along with working with Rabbi Bloom on ritual programs, they will be making pastoral visits to adult communities in the area. We are excited about working with our student cantors.

We reviewed our ongoing efforts to send Rosh Hashanah greetings and a bag of holiday items to senior Jewish residents living in adult communities on the Island and in Bluffton.

We are anxious to develop more programs to serve members in Bluffton and on the Island. Please watch the Tidings for regular updates from our committee.

Why CBY?

Lee and Rachel have been members of CBY since 2013 after being told what a nice congregation it was by affiliate members. They enrolled their children in Religious School, and it didn’t take long until Rachel was in the classroom teaching and taking on tutoring students for B’Nai Mitzvot (currently working on #10). Lee, of course, never minds lending a helping hand, even if he has no idea what is being asked of him! (He now knows what a Chuppah and a Sukkah are!) Lee and Rachel moved to Bluffton, SC, from Fort Stewart, GA, after Lee left active duty service in the Army in 2012. Rachel’s parents had already decided that they would eventually retire in the Lowcountry, and Lee’s family lives in Charleston, so it was the perfect place to land. During Lee’s service he lived in many places, including Georgia, Germany, Korea, and Iraq. Rachel grew up in Alpharetta, GA, and attended The College of Charleston. Lee and Rachel have two children - Isaac who is 11 and Eli who is 9. Lee is an avid outdoorsman, although this past year has been challenging as he had to have another surgery on his knee as a result of a combat injury - he hopes to be back on the trail soon! Rachel loves to read psychological thrillers and binge watch crime dramas in her not so free time. Rachel is both a Financial Professional and Director of Family Engagement at CBY, and Lee works for an appliance repair company in Georgia. Lee and Rachel are looking forward to celebrating many more simchas at CBY!

Social Action Committee — Barbara Meyer, Chair

The Social Action Committee has many plans for the near future. Since children will be back in school “live”, we will be collecting school supplies for two elementary schools, one on the island and one in Bluffton.

We will be having our annual High Holiday Food Drive. You have given generously all year, but the need is still high. Each food bank that we donate to tells us that food “flies off the shelves”. This community is still suffering the aftereffects of Covid-19 with on-going food insecurity. As you prepare to fill your bags with items, know that your efforts and kindness are deeply appreciated.

Our other plans include a Fall Warm Clothing/Coat Drive and a Blessing of the Animals. The students in the Religious School partner with us for this. The Hilton Head Humane Association joins us, typically bringing an animal with them who needs a loving, safe home.

As we think of being together again in person, we are excited about reclaiming human interactions. While Zoom has kept us in contact, for which we are grateful, nothing surpasses the connectedness that comes from being together.

Soon we will be thinking about programming to bring to you that will be of interest, stimulate conversation and exchange of thoughts, and increase understandings of differences in our social world.

Our annual School Supplies Drive seems to be lacking donations this year. Please take a moment when you are out to pick up some supplies, bring them to CBY, and leave them in the box in the social hall. We know the need will be great this year. As always, the Social Action Committee thanks you for your support.
