TEMPLE TIDINGS

By the time this column is published in the August Tidings, I will have been on my sabbatical for two weeks. Most people, not connected to academic culture, think of the sabbatical as a glorified vacation. Yes, the very name sabbatical reminds us of the Sabbath which clearly means a time of rest. Yet, if one asks academicians about the sabbatical, most scholars will say that this is a time to pursue research or write a book or some other kind of project connected with the work they do in the university.

In ancient times in the Torah, we learn that land as well as people may rest and so there are laws about the nature of letting the land rest. In fact, the practice of shmita occurs every seventh year, as a kind of sabbatical for the land, and it is mandated in the Torah. In Exodus 23:10-11, for instance, shmita precedes the injunction for individuals to rest on the seventh day. The Torah says, “God told Moses on Mount Sinai that every seven years the land of Israel must lay fallow and Jews are forbidden to work it. “For six years you are to sow your field...but on the seventh year there shall be a sabbath to the Lord.” It’s called the shmita—something that was academic during 2,000 years of exile but now has new practical meaning and application since the creation of the State of Israel.

Many religions offer their clergy the time to take a break from the demands of the job. The rest is from the routine of the work life of a clergy person but it allows the clergy an opportunity to think and reflect upon the issues of the day and the timelessness of their calling as clergy. As for me, I will be working on the dissertation, writing poetry and visiting family in Washington, D.C. There is a lot to think about these days and having the privilege of a four week sabbatical gives me the opportunity to seriously reflect upon not only my own rabbinate, but the ways I can serve my congregation. This time also provides me a respite when I can pursue academic studies that I simply cannot fit into my schedule during the course of a busy year. Trust me when I say that I do not take this time for granted.

When I return I look forward to being fired up with new thoughts and renewed spirit as we prepare for the High Holy Days. Congregation Beth Yam has so many wonderful people and enthusiasm generated by many new member families. I also am grateful to all the members who have led services in my absence. No doubt they are doing a fantastic job. We are moving in a positive direction and yes, we have challenges for the upcoming year. We must recruit more new families and retain the loyal members we have. Our new board and President Joel Greene are working hard to map out the best course for our growth. I am looking forward to so many good things. Let us all be on the same team and move in a forward thinking way to fulfill our noble aspirations for this congregation.

Shalom,
Rabbi Brad Bloom

Rabbi on the Road

Since the beginning of the pandemic Rabbi Bloom has been visiting congregants in an effort to connect. He is extremely careful and has been fully vaccinated and boosted and wears a mask. He has met with people in their yard, garage, on patios as well as inside the home.

If you are not yet ready for a personal visit to your home, he’s willing to do a Zoom meeting or phone call or you are welcome to meet him in his study at temple.

His main concern is to simply see how his congregants are doing.

Are you interested in scheduling a visit with Rabbi Bloom? Contact the office by phone, 843-689-2179, or by email, bethyam@aol.com.
Message from the President—Joel N. Greene

What does Israel mean to me?

Some years ago, when my oldest daughter, Dara, turned 19, she decided to apply for the Birthright trip to Israel. Because she answered her application form truthfully, she experienced a few problems in getting accepted. One question, for example, asked if she ever attended a church service? She replied, “yes” since she attended a Unitarian service once or twice with friends. Apparently, that was enough for the trip sponsors to disqualify her.

We learned that there were several different types of sponsors, and that she had applied to one of the more conservative groups. A re-application to a more liberal Birthright sponsor saved the day and she was accepted. Within a few months, Dara flew off to Israel and landed in Tel Aviv. When she departed the EL AL airplane, Dara reported something to me that was profound: “Dad, when I stepped on Israeli soil for the first time, I felt that I was home!”

I have often thought about Israel and wondered why I feel this extraordinary connection with a land that I have yet to visit. Why is this far away country so important to me personally? Why do I feel this extraordinary attraction to Israel? Why does it pluck at my heartstrings and continue to call, somehow offering a means of unraveling the puzzle of what it means to be Jewish?

Most of us, no doubt, have participated in countless Passover seders over the years that end with the statement, “Next Year in Jerusalem.” Do any of us take this as an exhortation or command to visit Israel, much less an actual invitation to visit this land? This beckoning was felt by Dara, the reality being that she finally felt at home!

Somehow, Jews feel a powerful connection with Israel. I doubt that any Jew can deny its attraction or existence. It is, after all, a part of our cultural and religious history, and even part of one’s personal identity. In America, the Jewish support for Israel is considered a fact. Jews often try to avoid talking about their political and financial support of Israel, lest they be accused of having dual loyalties and therefore being perceived as less American. In contrast, one can be proud to be Italian American, or German American, or Japanese American, but a Jew’s love of Israel is entirely something else.

During Rabbi Steve Burnstein’s recent visit to Congregation Beth Yam, he often answered questions about Israeli politics with the statement, “It’s complicated.” My relationship with Israel is also complicated. Yet, my love for Israel is undeniable. And my support for Israel is unequivocal.

I consider Israel to be a critical part of my Jewish identity.

I am looking forward to going on the trip to Israel that Rabbi Bloom is arranging for next year, coincident with Israel’s 75th anniversary. I want to see the Dead Sea, to touch the Western Wall (the Kotel) and to experience Eretz Israel in person. Perhaps most of all, I look forward to echoing my daughter’s sentiment when I step on Israeli soil for the first time, “I am finally home.”

Thank you,

Joel Greene

Men’s Club—Jeff Shapiro President

On behalf of the Congregation Beth Yam Men’s Club Board of Directors I’d like to invite you to join (or renew) your membership in the CBY Men’s Club. Our membership level currently stands at just over 60 and we are looking forward to growing our membership with your participation.

For those of you unfamiliar with our Men’s Club, we are an affiliate organization of Congregation Beth Yam. Club membership is open to all adult male members of Congregation Beth Yam. We meet monthly (generally at the synagogue), hosting speakers and/or other activities. Meetings generally take place during lunch which is provided at a nominal cost.

The Men’s Club Board of Directors is currently busy planning events and activities for the 2022-2023 season. We are here to provide a fun and rewarding experience for our members and the good will of the CBY community at large.

For new members of Congregation Beth Yam, your first year’s membership is free, so please come join us. Contact me by email to add your name to our Men’s Club roster.

All the best, Jeff ☺
Ritual Committee–Janet Kelley, Chair

During a recent Talmud study session, we tackled the topic of how to prepare for prayer. Our take home message was that there needs to be a separation between our secular lives outside the synagogue and our spiritual lives while preparing for prayer in our sanctuary. During our Ritual Committee meetings, we discussed what this might look like. The committee decided to try to create an environment conducive to prayer.

We decided on the following experiment. Upon entering the building, conversations will be encouraged in the foyer. A short time before the service is to begin, ushers, who will be standing at the doors to the sanctuary, will encourage worshippers to enter quietly and take a seat. There will be a similar message projected on the screen and quiet music will be played. Shortly before start time, the presiding officer will announce that the service will begin. The lights may be dimmed. The Rabbi will take the pulpit and start the service. Extraneous communication may be distracting and should be limited. When the service concludes congregants will be encouraged to exit to the social hall for the oneg, where they can converse with friends.

The goal of these changes is to create a place of calm introspection that will be more conducive to prayer. Hopefully we can create an atmosphere that is different from other quiet places like time spent with family, reading or visiting friends. Hopefully we will leave the synagogue with a different feeling than when we came to pray. As we refine details, we hope to begin this process sometime after the High Holy Days.

If you have any thoughts or suggestions, please email Maury Fradkin.

Friends Campaign–Lorna Bonner, Phyllis Napoli Co-chairs

Why donate to the Friends Campaign?

Q. How does my Friends donation differ from other donations to Beth Yam?
A. We are often inundated with requests for donations. Obviously, no one can donate to every cause, no matter how worthwhile they may seem. How do you choose among so many requests? By giving to the Friends Campaign, you are assured that your donation is being used for the immediate benefit of Beth Yam and its members.

Q. Why is the Friends Campaign so important?
A. The Friends Campaign is designed so that your contribution helps the members of Beth Yam now. Membership dues only cover about 60% of Beth Yam’s current operating expenses. The Friends Campaign, in large part, helps to bridge that gap.

Q. Why is the Friends Campaign starting early this year?
A. We have all experienced the effects of inflation and rising costs for almost everything that we buy these days. Beth Yam is not immune to these challenging financial times. The Friends Campaign is an essential part of Beth Yam. It helps us pay for new membership events, programming, and for services that we need. We’re starting our Friends Campaign early this year to give everyone an ample amount of time to help us achieve our financial goals.

Q. How can I make sure that Beth Yam will continue to grow and prosper?
A. There is no better way of showing your support of Beth Yam than by making a generous donation to the Friends Campaign. You can help assure that Beth Yam remains at the center of this wonderful, vibrant Jewish community in the Lowcountry and that it will continue to grow and prosper in the future. It is your generosity and support of the Friends Campaign that makes Beth Yam what it is. When it comes to charitable gifts and donations, please make the Friends Campaign your top priority. Soon, you will receive a letter from the Friends Campaign asking you to join us in supporting Congregation Beth Yam. Thank you.

Reflections–David Kurjan, former Tidings Editor

Back in the fall of 2017, I was asked by the then Tidings editor if I would assist her in reviewing the articles submitted for the next Monthly Tidings. Not long after that edition was “put to bed”, that individual resigned as editor and I was asked by the then president if I would take over editor duties. I agreed and discussed with Michele how we would do this. We made a few initial formatting changes and began to add more photos. I also began reviewing the drafts of the Weekly Tidings. Being on other committees gave me some insights into planned services and programs and other scheduling issues, which improved the accuracy of information presented in the Tidings.

My favorite part of the job was seeing the final product. My least favorite was getting articles submitted even close to on time. I hope that in the future more committees/groups can be persuaded to submit articles about their current or planned activities.
CALLING ALL BALABUSTAS!
(and Balabusta wanna-be CBY members!)

What is a Balabusta, you ask? It’s a Yiddish term of endearment for the devoted Jewish homemaker—someone who loves to bring their family together by cooking and other acts of love and devotion. It’s also customary that a balabusta surrounds herself with others; interns if you will, who are curious to learn the traditions, thereby passing them forward, l’dor v’dor, from generation to generation.

Well, your Sisterhood is now back in the CBY kitchen, and if you love to prepare food, then WE NEED YOU! Sisterhood will be very busy this fall (and hopefully through the rest of the coming year) assisting other CBY committees to re-establish yummy noshing opportunities in the CBY social hall, so we hope y’all will rev-up your ovens (or shopping carts) and join the fun.

We will start this new year by assisting Valerie Seldes and the Religious School Committee with a Welcome Back to School Brunch, Sunday, August 21. Consistent with this year’s theme of “Counting down to Israel 75 Diamond Jubilee Anniversary” this brunch will have an Israeli flair, so if you are interested in making (or buying) or learning to make Israeli style breads, spreads, fruits, veggies, eggs, and desserts then please contact Randy Kurjan to sign up for this team!

Next, we will support Rabbi and the Ritual Committee by hosting a dessert reception before the Selichot services, Saturday evening, September 17. So to all those bakers (and shoppers) ALL HANDS ON DECK! If you would like to join this team, please contact Tena Graber.

Also on the horizon we will once again join hands with our fellow sisters in other Meeting Street congregations, for an Interfaith Women’s Prayer Service on Tuesday October 25. This annual tradition began in 2016 following the Hurricane Matthew clean-up efforts. Of course whenever women gather, there is food! To sign up for baking for this event, contact Randy Kurjan.

As always we continue to need sponsors for Friday evening onegs after Shabbat services. Grab a date now while we are still doing only early 6pm services, and you only need to provide a challah! (Hopefully later in the fall, CBY will resume doing some later services, and we will be looking for sponsors for dessert onegs.) An oneg sponsor sign-up sheet is available on the greeters table in the CBY lobby, or contact me directly.

It’s also not too late to order honey gifts to send to a loved one for High Holy Days greetings. CLICK HERE to place your order!

I continue to ask that if you believe Sisterhood has not been meeting your expectations, then I’m all ears! I love to try to solve problems, so let’s talk! Most important, note that Sisterhood still has several open positions in leadership, as well as dozens of options for volunteers on committees. Ideas alone can’t make things happen! Sisterhood has always been dependent on volunteers! Give me a call, drop me an email, or just catch me at an oneg after Shabbat services, and get involved!

Fondly,
Your Sisterhood President, Robin ♡

SCHOOL SUPPLY DRIVE
Help a child have a successful start to the school year

Once again, the Social Action Committee will be collecting needed school supplies for local elementary schools. We request that congregants place the supplies in the box in the back of the social hall. It would also be helpful if you put like items together in bags so we don’t have to sort. The drive will run from July 5 through August 10.

CLICK HERE for a list of needed supplies. In previous years we have sent over more than 30 bags of supplies. Thank you for supporting our local students. If you have an Amazon Smile account linked to CBY—make your purchases there and CBY will get a percentage from your purchase. ⭐

Why CBY?

Barry Weingarten

I moved to Hilton Head as soon as I retired four years ago. It was a no-brainer for me, because I had been coming down to visit my brother and sister-in-law for many years before that. Since they live here full-time, along with Janet’s sister and her husband, Randy and David Kurjan, I felt it important to live close to family, and I have not regretted it. Randy, Janet, Mike and I all grew up in the same town in the 60’s (Willingboro, New Jersey, formerly Levittown, NJ), and Randy and I were only a year apart in the same high school. I’ll let you guess which one of us is older.

A year before I retired, I came down for a week for a vacation and found a great deal on a two-bedroom condominium, which I was able to rent back to the sellers for half a year. I had been an academic my whole life as a college professor of Spanish language and literature. I lived in Savannah for three years in the early 90’s, where I taught at Armstrong State College, now Georgia Southern University at Armstrong, so the Lowcountry was not really a new experience for me.

After Savannah, I moved to Córdoba, Spain for a year, where I worked as Resident Director of a year abroad program. It was a wonderful experience. I ultimately ended up at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, where I worked for 19 years before retirement. For over twenty years, I had a part-time teaching gig, working as an adjunct professor of Spanish for online courses for University of Maryland University College, now called University of Maryland Global Campus. I still teach five or six courses a year for them, and that is part of my retirement plan.

As an adult, I never belonged to a synagogue. As a kid, my family belonged to a conservative congregation, where I had my Bar Mitzvah. Whenever I visited the Weingartens, we would usually go to Shabbat services, and I realized that, not only did I enjoy the service, but I felt that there was a spiritual element missing from my life. I met and became friendly with many CBY members before I moved here, and there was no doubt in my mind that I would join the congregation as soon as I arrived in Hilton Head. I have been an active member since 2018 and have been on the Communications Committee for the past three years.

I enjoy traveling to new places, but COVID forced me to remain in Hilton Head for the past two years, and I have recently resumed my travels. I also enjoy films, reading, and cooking. Paella and flan are two of my specialties, but I am also an accomplished baker. I look forward to many more enjoyable years as a retiree and member of CBY.

Rosh Hashanah Senior Party

We are excited to announce that we will be hosting a FREE pre-High Holy Day event for Jewish seniors living in our area. We are using the model originally designed by Sandy Leff and updated by Rabbi Bloom. Our event “Flavor of the High Holy Days” will include a short service led by Rabbi Bloom, a catered dairy lunch by Gruby’s, and music by David Kimbell. The date is Thursday, September 15, 2022. Please plan to attend. The party is open to senior congregants as well as other Jewish seniors residing in the community. Funding is provided by a grant CBY received from the BJH Foundation for Senior Services for older Jewish adults. The grant is to maintain a connection to their Jewish heritage and traditions. You can help the Care Committee make this event a success by addressing envelopes, making phone calls, and helping on the day of the event. To volunteer please email JoAnne Doyle.

Rosh Hashanah Gift Bags

For the third straight year, during the High Holy Days, the Care Committee is planning to reach out to Jewish seniors residing in care facilities in our community. We will deliver holiday sweets and good wishes in gift bags. Please volunteer to address holiday cards, pack, and deliver the gift bags in Bluffton and Hilton Head. Email JoAnne Doyle.

Mi Shebeirach List

Be our eyes and ears. If you hear of a Congregant in need of healing prayers please inform Rabbi Bloom, the office or a member of the Care Committee by email; JoAnne Doyle, Kathy Burnce, or Maury Fradkin.
Adult Education—Randy Kurjan, Chair

The Adult Education Committee is back in business! After a long hiatus, we are excited to launch a year filled with stimulating opportunities to address the interests of all our congregants. Please let me know what inquiring minds want to know. I will follow up with an interest survey later this summer.

We have some wonderful programs in the planning stages. Adult Education is co-sponsoring the Forefront Series with Rabbi Bloom. There will be six sessions of stimulating speakers and discussions on a variety of timely topics. Our committee is working with the Israel Committee to provide programs and activities leading up to Israel at 75.

On October 24, we are hosting Professor Omri Bronstein from Tel Aviv University. He will be speaking on global change and human impact on marine environments. He is doing cutting edge research at Tel Aviv University on emerging new technologies to address environmental DNA on biodiversity change.

Are you interested in learning conversational Hebrew? Would you like to work toward an adult Bar/Bat Mitzvah? Would you enjoy a film series on Jewish and Israeli themes? Perhaps you would like a “lunch and learn” series. All of these are possible if the interest is there. If you would you like to be a part of the planning and implementation of these programs, we need you. Contact Randy Kurjan by email.

Membership Committee—Robin Katz & Pat Levitt, Co-chairs

We are happy to report that there has been quite a bit of interest in Congregation Beth Yam from people who have recently moved to the area as well as people hoping to relocate within the next year. We had two new couples join Beth Yam in July.

We are preparing for our first event on September 9, 2022. We hope you will join us for our Back to Shul Night. The Shabbat service will begin at 7:00 PM with an ice cream sundae social after services.

Thank you to our greeters for the month of July: Sheila and Walt Margeson, Howard Rothchild and Sheri Farbstein, Candy and Dave Solomon, Joanne Doyle, Kim and Jeff Shapiro.

Would you enjoy a film series on Jewish and Israeli themes? Perhaps you would like a “lunch and learn” series. All of these are possible if the interest is there. If you would you like to be a part of the planning and implementation of these programs, we need you. Contact Randy Kurjan by email.

Would you like to celebrate Israel's 75th anniversary IN Israel? Join Rabbi and Linda Bloom for this spiritual experience of building community, exploring history, and making new friends.

The Guardian Society of the CBY Endowment Fund

For many of us, there is a compelling need to make a difference in the world in which we live. Your gift to the Congregation Beth Yam Endowment Fund can do just that.

Endowed funds differ from other funds in that the total amount of the gift is invested. Each year, only the income earned is available to spend or to be added to the principal for growth. Donations to the Endowment can only be spent in very restricted circumstances. In this respect, a gift to the endowment is a perpetual gift that keeps on giving.

Since its founding, Congregation Beth Yam has been more than just a synagogue, more than a religious school, more than a bimah, more than a place for social gatherings. It is our community’s Jewish home, the center of Jewish life in the Lowcountry. The Endowment Fund is positioned to ensure that it remains so for many years to come.

We want to invite you to become a member of the CBY Guardian Society. The society includes generous and forward-thinking donors who support our synagogue’s long-term success. It’s easy to do. Just make a contemporary donation to the Endowment Fund or include CBY in your estate/legacy planning. For your legacy documents, simply name the Congregation Beth Yam Endowment Fund as a beneficiary in your estate document; as a retirement plan beneficiary; or as a beneficiary of your life insurance policy and inform a member of the Endowment Committee of your decision. We will be happy to add your name to the list below.

If you have already included CBY in your will or estate plans, please let us know so we can welcome you as a member of the Guardian Society. Should you need additional information, or have any questions regarding the Endowment Fund, please contact Ted David by email.
